College Prep Conference & College Fair

The Annual College Prep Conference & College Fair set new attendance records in 2016 of 1,500 and is primed for a repeat performance. In an effort to address the alarming statistics regarding African American students not being successful in pursuing post-secondary education, CLD along with college, university and community partners created the CLD College Prep Conference and College Fair. Our goal is to expose students and their parents to the many opportunities that a college education affords.
