THE PRESIDENT & THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

Dear CLD supporter,

Since its founding in Indianapolis forty-two years ago, the Center for Leadership Development has remained resolutely committed to advancing its important mission of cultivating African American youth of Indianapolis to become professional, business and community leaders. We continue to advance this mission utilizing our present strategic plan as our map and catalyst. Entitled, A Center of Hope: Envisioning and Exemplary Youth Experience in Indianapolis, this strategic plan reflects the Center for Leadership Development's commitment to deliver on important goals which could have transformative impact for youth, families and Greater Indianapolis:

1. Significantly increase the number of students and parents enrolled
2. Engage at-risk youth to give more exposure to enriching CLD experiences
3. Increase overall involvement of parents and families
4. Increase CLD funding to expand capacity and deliverables
5. Explore building expansion and program replication

As we begin year four of our five year plan, we have made tremendous overall progress in some of these goals, but have much work to complete. We have been most diligent in our efforts to more purposefully and effectively measure the impact of CLD's many enriching programs and services on students and parents. Moreover, we have developed a comprehensive program logic model that systematically outlines the short, intermediate and long-term impact we aspire to make on the parents and students we serve. Our ultimate goal is to insure students enrolled in CLD are graduating from high school and are enrolling, persisting and graduating from college at rates that exceed their peers. Our strategy of enrolling more youth from our city's highest crime areas is also paying dividends. In 2018, 1,037 CLD participants came from Indy's high crime areas, and CLD served 1,108 African American males.

What does the future hold for CLD and Indianapolis? We can easily envision the day where we are serving 8,000 students and parents per year in an inspiring space that is a mecca of African American achievement; where we are offering more CLD programming within our local schools; and where we are establishing satellite programs in low-income areas of Indy. Since our founding in 1977, the Center for Leadership Development has gained a wealth of knowledge and expertise on how best to cultivate and empower African American youth to discover their highest academic, college and career potential. We are committed to bringing this valuable experience to bear by making sure thousands more youth and families across Indy benefit from CLD's knowledge.

As always, we thank all of our partners and stakeholders for your tremendous investment in the Center for Leadership Development and in the youth we are committed to transforming from potential to actual. Together, we are making youth, and the city of Indianapolis, better. Thank you for your support of the Center for Leadership Development, and thank you for your trust.

Yours for the development of youth,

DENNIS E. BLAND, ESQ.

ABOUT CLD

For 41 years, the Center for Leadership Development (CLD) has equipped and inspired thousands of Indianapolis youth to excel in academics, college, career and life. Yet, long before these highly successful and distinguished individuals become business, professional and community leaders, they are elementary, middle school or high school students who require varying degrees of empowerment and preparedness to help them achieve. CLD seeks to serve as a beacon of college and career readiness for every student and family we serve. We do so through providing a highly respected and powerfully enriching youth development experience that can be aptly described as life affecting and life changing.

MISSION

To foster the advancement of minority youth in Central Indiana as future professional, business and community leaders by providing experiences that encourage personal development and educational attainment.

PRINCIPLES FOR SUCCESS

CLD's Principles for Success are five core principles and values, which we believe are fundamental and vital to developing youth and preparing them for the highest levels of personal development, career success and an enriched overall quality of life.

VISION

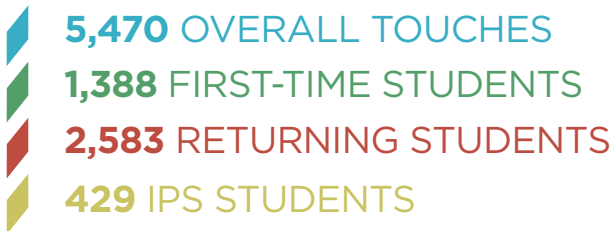

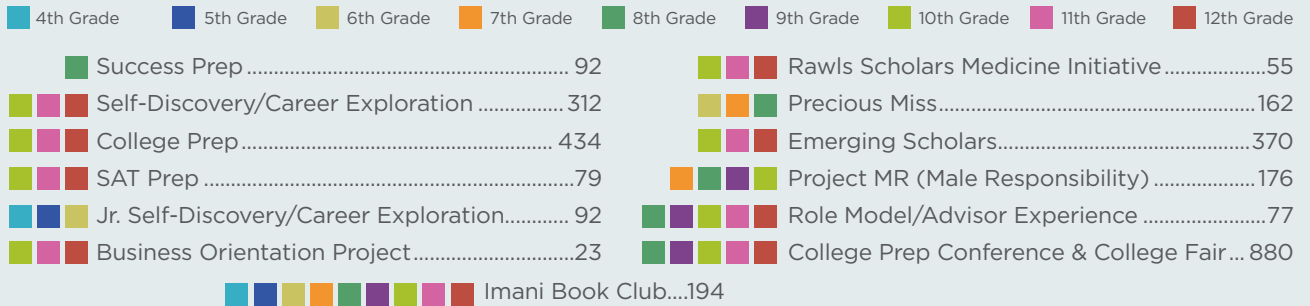

To establish CLD as one of the most preeminent centers in the nation for inspiring the highest character and leadership skills, and the highest academic, college and career achievement in African-American youth.

"Precious Miss has taught me many wonderful things but I will always remember that I am a strong, powerful young lady and no one can stop me. I am a Precious Miss!"
